

EXECUTIVE BIOGRAPHY

Camille French-McCaleb
Director of Operations & Human Resources
Creative Business Resources

Camille French-McCaleb joined CBR as the director of operations and human resources in 2005. She currently directs the operations of the human resources, benefits and payroll divisions, as well as trains CBR employees. McCaleb is directly involved in client relations by assisting clients with higher-level HR issues and problem resolution, including HR strategy, implementing policies and lawsuit prevention. Her efforts have assisted small-to-medium sized businesses improve their human resource processes, performance management and leadership development programs. Prior to joining CBR, McCaleb directed HR and consulted for several private and public companies. She developed and implemented policy strategies, compliance strategies and training programs. She has acquired more than 14 years of HR experience. McCaleb earned her Masters of Business Administration from Westminster College as well as a Bachelors degree in Human Resource Management from ASU. She enjoys traveling, reading and outdoor activities such as golf, skiing and softball. McCaleb is a three-time participant in the Susan G. Komen's Race for the Cure and she and her family currently sponsor three underprivileged children through World Vision and Compassion International.