Camille McCaleb

Vice President of Operations & Human Resources

Camille McCaleb serves as vice president of operations and human resources at Creative Business Resources (CBR). She joined CBR in 2005 and has played an integral part of the culture and infrastructure of CBR. She is responsible for oversight of the human resources, benefits, payroll, training and systems divisions. McCaleb drives HR compliance and strategies for all CBR clients and their employees as well as assists businesses with improving human resources processes, performance management and leadership development programs.

McCaleb has more than 15 years experience with human resources and payroll in senior-management level positions for companies such as Robert Redford's Sundance Catalog Company, Climatec, Inc. and West Jordan City. She also has independently consulted for several small-to medium-sized companies.

McCaleb earned her Masters of Business Administration from Westminster College and her Bachelors degree in Human Resource Management from Arizona State University. Additionally, she holds a Senior Professional in Human Resources certification (SPHR).

McCaleb is heavily involved in the human resources and PEO industry and is an active member of many professional organizations to include: NAPEO (National Association of Professional Employment Organizations) where she participates on the Immigration Task Force and elected to reside as chairperson for the NAPEO Arizona Leadership Counsel for 2009 & 2010, SHRM (Society for Human Resource Management), elite member of NAPW (National Association of Professional Women) and EAGP (Executive Association of Greater Phoenix). She enjoys traveling, reading and outdoor activities such as golf, skiing and softball. McCaleb is a three-time participant in the Susan G. Komen's Race for the Cure and she and her family currently sponsor three underprivileged children through World Vision and Compassion International.
